

Prime Technology Group, LLC Announces SCAMPI Appraisal Acceptance for Public Use

The SCAMPI methodology appraises businesses for maturity in the development process of their products and services. The goal is significant improvement in both product and process quality.

United States -- Free-Press-Release.com -- Feb 17, 2016 -- Wednesday, February 17, 2016 (Wayne, PA) - Prime Technology Group, LLC (PRIME), a global technology services company, is pleased to announce that the SCAMPI appraisal for its software applications development division has been approved for public use and published on the CMMI website.

The SCAMPI methodology appraises businesses for maturity in the development process of their products and services. The goal is significant improvement in both product and process quality, as well as heightened accuracy in budgeting time and finances for implementing and maintaining the improvement. The published list of companies have attained not only that "initial" spark of process maturity, but sustained it as well.

The published result is now available for viewing on the Published Appraisal Results System (PARS) website, at <https://sas.cmminstitute.com/pars/>.
